Located in Tokyo, Genpact-Headstrong Business Consulting has operated in Japan since 1999, providing high value services including management consulting, complex project management (PMO) business process optimization, IT consulting, supply chain transformation, and global strategy including market entry and global expansion for Japanese corporations into new markets. The business serves companies in multiple verticals including manufacturing, banking, financial services, insurance, hi-tech, gaming, and pharmaceuticals, engaging with clients primarily in Japan but also in India, Brazil, Macau, Vietnam, and the United States.

Genpact-Headstrong Business Consulting has worked with more than 100 of the largest companies in Japan since its inception, generating business impact including helping a retail bank implement new channel initiatives and helping a leading global energy company consolidate procurement data warehouses for increased visibility and controllership. Bringing global business practices together with the local Japanese business culture, Genpact-Headstrong Business Consulting has partnered with Japanese enterprises to implement complex, strategic global programs, optimize operations and drive the convergence of business and technology.

"Our business is now even stronger with the integration of Genpact's business process and technology services management expertise and experience in transforming business operations, as well as its client-centric culture," said John Tinsley, managing director, Genpact-Headstrong Business Consulting. "Genpact-Headstrong Business Consulting will continue to grow as we focus on expanded consulting services as companies in Japan continue to look to transform their business operations, including expanding into other markets. This is the natural evolution of our business and we see many more opportunities to apply this combined business process management, technology and consulting expertise to more companies in this market."

Genpact-Headstrong Business Consulting is part of Genpact's growing operations in Asia, with multiple locations in Japan as well as China and Hong Kong.
