Genpact Wins 2025 CSO Award for 9th Year in a Row

New York – October 21, 2025 – Genpact (NYSE: G), an agentic and advanced technology solutions company recognized for its deep industry knowledge, process intelligence, and last-mile expertise, today announced that it has received the 2025 CSO Award for the 9th consecutive year from Foundry's CSO, a leading source for breaking news, analysis, and research on security and risk management.

CSO awards companies that demonstrate outstanding business value and thought leadership through their security projects and initiatives. This year's award recognizes Genpact's human-centric security strategy.

"True resilience comes from recognizing and effectively addressing human behavior," said Vidya Srinivasan, Global Leader – Cyber Risk, Infrastructure, and Logistics, Genpact. "By leveraging our vigilant awareness training, global champions network, and other employee programs – including using AI-powered simulations – we help mitigate real-world threats."

"The scope and complexity of cybersecurity responsibilities are expanding rapidly-especially in the face of emerging AI-driven threats," said Beth Kormanik, Content Director of the CSO Conference and Awards. "This year's CSO Award winners exemplify how today's security leaders are meeting these challenges head-on."
